

May 2007
For immediate release

Art for the Wine Enthusiast

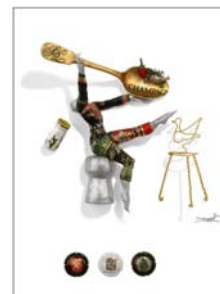

Leaders in wine storage for many years, MacPhee's has responded to clients' demands and branched out to provide everything for the wine enthusiast.

Stunning new wine art has just arrived at MacPhee's and is currently on exhibit in their showroom. In addition to offsite storage, MacPhee's now specialise in global brand EuroCave wine cellar cabinets, custom designed cellars, racking systems, cellar management, wine accessories and glassware and wine books, art and maps.

The vast array of spectacular vintage poster art is perfect for those seeking artwork that makes a statement, with bold colours and striking subject matter. These vintage pieces are limited editions, making them great investments.

The Gerad Puvis eye-catching prints come from the original sculptures commissioned by some of France's finest wine estates. Made from hand made copper plates, these pieces are embossed then sealed with foils from the same wine capsules of the original sculptures, giving them a beautiful and unique appearance. Born in France, Puvis is internationally recognised as one of France's greatest contemporary artists.

Margaret Loxton's beautiful prints reflect her passion for France and ability to illustrate the true essence of wine culture. These prints are beautifully framed, making them an elegant piece of art for the home and a wonderful gift for the wine lover who has everything.

Tim Bulmer's watercolour etchings are renowned for reflecting his witty sense of humour and wry observation on life. This London artist's popularity is certainly on the rise, having won the Fine Art Trade Guild's Best Selling Print Artist award in 2001 as well as being officially named the Harrod's Picture Gallery's Most Popular Artist.

Craig MacPhee, director of MacPhee's, states that "There is a piece of art here for any wine enthusiast, from small and fun pieces to bold and extravagant artwork. This impressive range is ideal for the home, office or cellar."

Wine art priced from $140